卷之三

This high-contrast, black-and-white photograph depicts a scene of extreme destruction. The foreground is filled with twisted metal, shattered glass, and other unidentifiable debris. A dark, irregular shape, possibly a body or a piece of equipment, lies amidst the wreckage. The background is dominated by a large, dark, and heavily damaged structure, possibly a vehicle or building, with visible internal components and external frames. The entire image is framed by a thick black border.

A high-contrast, black-and-white photograph depicting a group of individuals gathered around a large, dark, and somewhat indistinct object. The scene is characterized by deep shadows and bright highlights, creating a dramatic and mysterious atmosphere. The figures appear to be in a state of activity or inspection, though the details are obscured by the lighting. The overall texture is grainy and noisy, suggesting an older film print or a heavily processed digital image.

This high-contrast, black-and-white photograph depicts a close-up view of a dark, textured surface, likely a piece of debris or a damaged object. The image is characterized by significant noise and grain, which obscures many fine details. A vertical strip of lighter material, possibly a label or a piece of tape, runs along the right edge of the frame. The overall composition is abstract due to the lack of clear subject matter.
